

Inclusive Technology Lab Advisory Council

Terms of Reference

The ITL Advisory Council is a group of students, researchers and university staff with an interest in supporting and/or conducting research on students with disabilities and assistive technology.

The ITL Advisory Council advises the Library on how to best direct and evaluate the initiatives of the ITL with collaboration and innovation in mind.

Meetings & Communication

The ITL Advisory Council meets three times per year, in October, February and May. Meetings are one hour and all members have the opportunity to contribute to the agenda in advance. Additional correspondence will be conducted by email.

Meeting minutes will be posted on the ITL Advisory Council webpage.

Membership

Contact Barbara Sobol, Undergraduate Services Librarian if you are interested in participating. We are looking for membership from the following groups:

- Undergraduate students
- Graduate students
- Faculty members
- Student Services – Disability Resource Centre
- Campus Departmental Representatives

Once established, the names of members will be posted on the ITL webpage.

2015 – 2016 plans

The ITL is set to open for Fall 2015 and the ITL Advisory Council will have its first meeting in October. An agenda for the year will be set at that meeting.
